DETAILED ACTION

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1 to 3, drawn to austenitic stainless steel alloy composition, classified in class 148, subclass 325.
- II. Claims 4 to 12, drawn to method of milling steel powder and consolidating at high temperature, classified in class 75, subclass 513.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions of group I and group II are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions have different functions because group I is a steel alloy composition with no process limitations of making and group II is directed to a method for manufacturing a sintered powdered product by milling powder and consolidating twice at 700 to 900C.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

During a telephone conversation with Mr. William Solomon on April 29, 2003 a provisional election was made with traverse to prosecute the invention of group I, claims 1 to 3. Affirmation of this election must be made by applicant in replying to this Office action. Claims 4 to 12 are withdrawn from further consideration by the examiner, 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a non-elected invention.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1 to 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Japanese patent 54-51922 or US Patent No. 5,908,486 (Flinn et al).

JP'922 in Tables 1 to 3 on page 111 and Flinn in Table 2 of column 6, each discloses austenitic stainless steel alloys which meet the recited claimed composition. Moreover, Flinn on lines 1 to 34 in column 8 teaches a fine grain size of 50nm for Ti, V, or Nb carbide/nitride ppts and similar to applicant's present invention results in higher yield and tensile strength. Even though Flinn does not specifically teach carbonitride as recited by the claim, such would be expected since compositional limitations are met and carbides and nitrides would form some carbonitrides. In regard to JP'922, the reference in Figure 1 on page 113 discloses fine grain size of 10 to 11 ASTM which would appear to be closely within applicant's claimed range.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1 to 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The recited term "several " is undefined and therefore indefinite.
